You are receiving this notice because you have an active user account on fishersci.com.

Fisher is introducing a redesigned fishersci.com Web site. Your company will be migrated to the updated site on April 8, 2006.

The redesigned site is replacing the existing site, and you will only be able to access the new site following your company's migration. The redesigned site still includes all of the functionality that you use today. Your login and account information will remain the same. All of the company and personal settings and purchasing data that you currently access through fishersci.com will be unchanged and available to you on the redesigned site. You will also use the new site to place and track orders just as you do today.

For more information about the site updates, visit www.fishercom.info/nextgen/demo/.

We will notify you when you may start using the updated site. If you should need assistance following your migration or do not recall your username or password, please call Fisher Web Site Support at 877.885.2081. Please send general comments via e-mail to Web.Feedback@fishersci.com.

Thank you for your time. We appreciate your assistance during this transition.
